Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Laboratory Directions in Chemistry I-A Measurement Of Volumes. Notes: Enter the date and the title of the exercise at the top of a page of the notebook. Use one side only of each page for recording experimental results and answering questions. Make calculation neatly at the bottom or side of the page, or on the opposite page. Show your notebook to your instructor each day until he is satisfied with your method of making entries. Each day, before leaving the laboratory; finish the experiments assigned for the days work, write out the answers to as many of the questions as possible, and clean the top of your desk. Before the next laboratory period finish the questions and problems, review your work and be sure that you understand it perfectly. Read over the laboratory notes on the next laboratory exercise. Experiment. Make several measurements of the inside diameter (in centimeters) of your medium-sized beaker. (The instructor will suggest a method.) Record each measurement in your notebook as soon as it is made. The beakers are not...

Reviews

An exceptional pdf and the typeface utilized was fascinating to read through. It can be written in straightforward words and phrases instead of confusing. I am just quickly could possibly get a delight of looking at a written ebook.

-- Prof. Arlie Bogan

It is in a single of the best book. This is for those who state there had not been a well worth reading through. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

-- Dr. Barney Robel Jr.
