

Citizenship in a Globalising World

By Ray, B N

Kaveri Book Service, New Delhi, 2007. Hard Bound. Book Condition: New. This book dealing directly with the historical development of modern citizenship and its social and political consequences, offers a distinctive interpretation and critique of T.H. Marshall's theory, and makes a modest contribution to the debate generated by Marshall. Structured analytically, the book introduces the reader to all the facets of citizenship. These are illustrated by reference both to a broad range of theoretical writings from Aristotle to the present day, and to the actual provisions of the status of citizenship in a number of countries. The volume explores, in addition, a diverse range of pressing issues, including the differences between the civic republican and liberal styles of citizenship; the origins and current relationship between citizenship and nationality and the issue of multiculturalism; the problems experienced by 'second-class' citizens; the concept of 'multiple citizenship' including the status of EU citizenship; the changing definition of 'world citizenship' in a globalising world and the role of education creating citizens. Contents: Preface; (1) Introduction; (2) Rise of Citizenship: The Idea of cosmopolis/ Legal definitions/ Equality or elitism? Multiple Citizenship/ Parallel citizenship/ Federal constitutions/ The European Union. (3) The Liberal Tradition: Citizenship and capitalism/...

READ ONLINE
[2.1 MB]

Reviews

A top quality publication along with the font used was intriguing to read. I really could comprehend everything using this written e book. Its been designed in an remarkably straightforward way and it is only after i finished reading through this publication by which basically altered me, modify the way i believe.

-- Cathrine Larkin Sr.

Very useful to all of group of people. I actually have read through and so i am certain that i will planning to study yet again once again down the road. I am just very easily can get a satisfaction of looking at a created book.

-- Mark Bernier