Chapter 1 Introduction Competition between the public and private sectors for depot Public-Private maintenance work initially began in fiscal year 1985 when the Congress Competition authorized a test program to allow public and private shipyards to compete for the overhaul of selected ships on the basis of cost comparisons. The competition programs goal was to help balance public and private industrial base concerns while achieving economy through competition. The Congress believed that by allowing public and private shipyards to directly compete for work, depot performance would be improved and depot maintenance costs would be reduced. Our 1994 report 2 provided the history and status of the Navys ship competition program. In fiscal year 1987, the Congress authorized the Navy to expand the scope of the competition program to include public-private competitions for work package subjected to NAVAIR depot repair of aircraft. The first public-private competition was for F-14 standard depot-level maintenance. NAVAIR In December 1990, published plans...
