Excerpt: . . . his whole work upon mount Zion and upon Jerusalem, I will punish the fruit of the stout heart of the king of Assyria. Other parts of the chapter evidently refer to the latter times in which we now live. It is true that there are at present no signs of such an approaching catastrophe. We should be obliged, if called to search and report, to exclaim with the angel that stood among the myrtle trees in the peaceful days of Darius, We have walked to and fro through the earth, and behold all the earth sitteth still and is at rest. Zech. I. But so it was in the palmy days of the prosperity and glory of great Babylon, the type of the empires of modern Babylon; but far superior to us, the head of gold being far mightier than the ten toes of iron and clay. She said to herself, I sit as a queen, and shall see no sorrow. But contrary to all human appearances, all that the prophets predicted was literally fulfilled: she was made to sit in dust, a mans heart was given her: and now we can scarcely trace the site of that proud city. And shall christians believe the truth of these records, and not obey the admonition of their Lord P Watch! Is it not the duty of the church, especially the duty of the stewards of her mysteries, to exhort one another daily lest any be...
